LEADERS EXPECT KLAN SUPPORT

American Party to Hold National Convention Tomorrow.

TO PLACE TICKET IN FIELD

Prohibition State and National Conventions to Be Held Thursday and Friday, With 1,000 Delegates Expected—New Candidate in Race For Republican Nomination For Attorney General.

Columbus, June 2.—The American party will hold its national convention in this city tomorrow and place a ticket in the field.

Leaders say the new organization is the outgrowth of a demand for a new political organization in Pennsylvania. W. M. Lukins, secretary of the party and editor of the Watchman, the party's national paper published at Uniontown, Pa., made preparations for the convention, which will open Tuesday morning at 10 o'clock. Several hundred delegates are expected to participate in the proceedings. Lukins said that the party would name a national ticket and probably a state ticket to enter the August primaries.

In all probability Judge Gilbert O. Nation of Washington, editor of the Protestant, a magazine of the party and a professor in the Washington law school, will be the American party's presidential nominee. Judge Nation was formerly a member of the Prohibition party, Mr. Lukins said, and the latter party, which is to hold its national convention here later in the week, will be invited to support the American party's candidate, it was indicated. Mr. Lukins declared also that his party expected to have the backing of the Ku Klux Klan in both the state and national tickets, "although the Klan and the American party are not in any way affiliated," he insisted.

Prohibitionists to Meet. Thursday and Friday will see the delegates to the Prohibition national convention assembled in Memorial hall here. While little interest in Ohio is attached to this particular party's activities, the great amount of talk about a third party this year relatively increases the importance of the coming gathering in the eyes of Prohibition leaders.

The convention will bring nearly 1,000 delegates and probably as many spectators to witness the nominating of Prohibition party candidates for president and vice president and to hear the party's platform framed for the fall campaign.

Candidates for state and county office have less than two weeks in which to file their declarations of candidacy for the primaries, but the list of prospectives is rapidly increasing.

Application of Wesley L. Grills, Lorain city solicitor, for blanks with which to file as a Republican candidate for attorney general, gave further indication that Attorney General Crabbe would have more opposition to renomination. Bert B. Buckley of Dayton has already announced his candidacy for the same office on the Republican ticket. Meanwhile Mr. Crabbe is withholding his declaration and is giving studious consideration to the governorship.

Former State Senator Roland G. Davis of Hamilton is going to be a candidate for the Republican nomination for lieutenant governor. He was defeated at the primaries for the same nomination two years ago.

Walter F. Pinder, former judge of the third appellate district, has filed his declaration of candidacy for associate justice of the state supreme court.

HERE AND THERE

Russian soviet foreign office announced that China has recognized soviet Russia and the recognition is unconditional.

Claude M. Morris, 27, was shot and killed by Mrs. Katherine Kearney, 27, who was found fatally wounded at St. Louis. Police said they had quarreled.

A schoolboy playing in the sagebrush a few miles from Kuna, Idaho, picked up what is believed to be a petrified egg of an extinct animal. The egg is 4 13-16ths inches long and 3 9-16ths inches in diameter.

M. Wroblewski, minister to the United States from Poland, is returning to Washington with instructions to open negotiations for funding the Polish debt to America.

John F. McInnis, leader of the policemen's strike in 1919, died May 17. Since the strike McInnis worked at his former trade of bricklaying.

BISHOP BROWN TO APPEAL

Convicted of Heresy at His Trial Before Jury of Bishops.

Cleveland, June 2.—Bishop William M. Brown, who was convicted of heresy at his trial before a jury of Methodist Episcopal bishops, admitted candidly that from the orthodox point of view he is a heretic. In his own view he is not. In the simple language of an old man he told his judge and jurors that he was still a professing Christian, that he "believed every word of the Bible from cover to cover," the Apostles' creed, the Nicene creed and he believed in Jesus—but that he now believed in all this symbolically, not literally. Bishop Brown's attorney noted an appeal from the court that found him guilty and served notice of their intention to fight this now famous case up through the courts of review, the house of bishops, and ultimately, if necessary, to the civil courts. All this to sustain Bishop Brown's right, as he terms it, to remain within the church, a professing Christian, even though denying belief in a conscious personal God.

FARM RELIEF BILL DOOMED

House Leaders See Its Defeat When Vote Is Reached.

FISHERIES TREATY RATIFIED

Senate Reconsiders and Passes Without Reservation the Pact With Great Britain—Pepper World Court Plan Attacked by Democratic Members of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee.

Washington, June 2.—House leaders expressed the belief today that the McNary-Haugen farm relief bill will be defeated when a vote on passage is reached today or tomorrow.

The house Saturday night adjourned without taking a vote on the measure. The motion was offered by Representative Voight, Republican insurgent of Wisconsin, one of the members of the agricultural committee opposed to the bill, and was adopted by a vote of 186 to 136. This indicated, leaders say, that the measure will be defeated.

The senate reconsidered and passed without reservation the treaty with Great Britain for the preservation of the halibut fisheries of the North Pacific ocean, including the Bering sea. House action at this session on the $30,000,000 rivers and harbors appropriation bill is held improbable, with the refusal of the harbors and rivers committee to give the measure proper status on the calendar.

Democratic members of the senate foreign relations committee filed a minority report on the Pepper world court plan, premising its rejection. They say that in approving the Pepper plan, the Republican majority of the senate foreign relations committee took the most certain way for defeating any action by this congress to secure adherence by the United States to the world court. The report was signed by every Democratic member and was presented by Senator Swanson of Virginia, author of a proposal which the minority asserted, comprised almost precisely the outlines given in the messages of Presidents Harding and Coolidge.

The issue presented by the presidential communications, the report said, "was to adhere under certain conditions and save reservations to the existing permanent court of international justice." "The departure of the committee from this issue," it continued, "has destroyed all prospects of favorable action at this time, unless President Coolidge and Secretary Hughes can induce a sufficient number of their associates in the senate to co-operate for the adoption of a resolution making effective their recommendations."

The recommendations of two presidents received no consideration from the committee, the minority asserted, until Senator Swanson had introduced his resolution to make them effective. If this resolution were adopted, the report declared, "the United States would have no legal connection whatever with the league of nations nor assume any of its obligations as clearly pointed out by Secretary Hughes." Far from being dependent upon the league, the Democrats said, the court actually would be as independent as the American judiciary.

DONAHAY HELD A SAVIOR

Crabbe and McDonald Criticized by Justices of Peace.

Columbus, June 2.—At its meeting here the Association of Justices of the Peace of Ohio struck back at Attorney General Crabbe, B. F. McDonald, state prohibition director, also came in for no small degree of criticism, and Governor Donahay was lauded as the "friend of the justices of the peace, of honest law enforcement," and as the savior of justice courts in a number of counties of the state.

Attorney General Crabbe was characterized as a "scheming politician" by W. D. Downer of Steubenville. The prohibition law was attacked by several of the justices. J. W. Richards of Uniontown, Stark county, secretary of the association, referred to the present prohibition law as "the damnable prohibition law" and declared Crabbe himself must assume the responsibility for the recently uncovered justice of the peace court scandal, because of the county-wide jurisdiction provision of the Crabbe act.

DOINGS IN OHIO

Charge Made by Boys.

Columbus, June 2.—Three boys, who ran away from the Franklin county children's home because of alleged severe whippings they received there, were found huddled together in a corner of a school building by police. When the boys were taken to the juvenile detention home it was discovered that their backs were covered with black and blue welts, the police asserted. They gave their names as Melvin Homes, 8; John Mines, 12, and Willard Sheets, 9.

Business Women Elect.

Cincinnati, June 2.—Mrs. Zella A. McBerty of Warren was elected president of the Ohio Federation of Business and Professional Clubs at the convention of the organization here. A boom for Judge Florence E. Allen of the Ohio supreme court as candidate for the United States senate was started by Miss Emily Kneubuhl of this city.

Boy Killed by Companion.

Middletown, O., June 2.—Bert Carpenter, 16, died at his home, east of Lebanon, as the result of a bullet wound. Willard Jones, 16, another farmer boy, did the shooting, the ball from a .22 caliber revolver piercing his chum's heart. They were playing "wild west." Coroner Harry Dilatash pronouncing the shooting accidental.

Gypsies Fined.

Washington, C. H., O., June 2.—A band of 40 gypsies, traveling in automobiles, gypsyed a local man out of $40. Mayor Allen ordered the nomads rounded up and after fining eight of them a total of $253 for disorderly conduct, gave them a safe escort out of the county.

Theater Robbed.

Cleveland, June 2.—Several thousand dollars in cash were taken by safe robbers from the strong box in the office of Loew's Liberty theater in the east end section. It was discovered when the janitor opened the place.

Country's Oldest Fire Chief.

Cleveland, June 2.—Chief George Wallace, 76, served his fifty-first year in the fire department, the last 23 of which he has been at its head. He claims to be the oldest active fire chief in the country.

Boy Drowned.

Youngstown, O., June 2.—Robert H. Mitchell, 9, son of the physical director at Lincoln junior high school here, was drowned in Lake Milton when he fell from the bank while fishing.

Scaffolding Collapsed.

Cleveland, June 2.—Edward Houston, carpenter, was instantly killed here when a scaffolding collapsed and threw him 30 feet to the ground, breaking his back.

Horses Cremated.

East Liverpool, O., June 2.—Fire destroyed the stables of the Milliron Transfer company, with a loss of $50,000. Twenty-four head of horses were burned.

French Cabinet Resigns.

Paris, June 2.—The French cabinet resigned yesterday. Premier Poincaré tendered his own and the resignations of his colleagues to President Millerand. The resignation of the latter in the near future is also expected. He was sharply attacked in the new chamber of deputies. It is believed M. Herriot will be elevated to the premiership.

TO PRESENT CASE TO GRAND JURY

Prosecutor Says Confessions Will Hang Leopold and Loeb

POLICE HAVE OTHER EVIDENCE

Each of the Prisoners, Both Sons of Chicago Millionaires, Charges the Other With Delivering the Blow That Killed the Kidnaped Lad, Robert Franks—Leopold Says Killing Was Accidental.

Chicago, June 2.—State's Attorney Crowe declared the confessions of Nathan E. Leopold, Jr., and Richard Loeb will "hang them."

Crow said he would present the confessions and other evidence to the grand jury without delay.

Leopold and Loeb, the prisoners, are sons of Chicago millionaires and university students. According to the state's attorney. The pair admitted they kidnaped and slew Robert Franks, 13, son of Jacob Franks, a millionaire paper box manufacturer here. They said they strangled the boy in their automobile, concealed the body in a swamp and demanded $10,000 ransom from the parents. Concerning the motive, Crowe said the young men wanted "excitement and $10,000."

Young Franks disappeared on the afternoon of May 21, as he was going from a private school to his home a few blocks distant. That night a man posing as "George Johnson" telephoned the boy's mother that her son was held for ransom and the next day the father received a letter demanding $10,000 for the boy's release and instructing that further orders would follow. In the afternoon came a telephone call to Franks from Johnson instructing him to take the money, which he had ready, to a drug store, the address of which Franks did not understand. A few minutes afterward the nude body of a boy, found stuffed into a culvert in a South Side swamp, was identified as his son.

The state's attorney declared that if the confessions are repudiated, evidence the police have uncovered would convict them. Each of the youths maintains that it was the other, not he, who struck the blow with the chisel that killed their victim. Leopold, who is a law student, maintains his composure. He claims they were "experimenting" and that the killing was "accidental."

TWENTY-THREE DIE WHEN SCHOOL BURNS

Private Institution Near Los Angeles Is Destroyed.

Los Angeles, June 2.—Fire which destroyed the Hope school for sub-normal girls at Playa del Ray claimed a toll of 23 lives. In addition a score or more persons were injured, several seriously.

The girls were housed in a three-story wooden building, fire breaking out on the third floor. Two adults are in the list of dead, including Mrs. Drew Thomas, head matron.

The building was a mass of flames when the firemen arrived. The school was a private institution. It is said that when the fire broke out all doors and windows were found to be locked. Rescuers who attempted to gain entrance were forced to break a number of windows before they were able to reach the trapped children. When the children were reached they were huddled together and apparently fighting among themselves, rescuers said.

Playa del Ray, a beach resort, is 18 miles from Los Angeles.

Partisanship Alleged.

Cincinnati, June 2.—J. W. Stuber of Columbus, editor-in-chief of the Ohio Sportsman, flayed the state administration of the fish and game department when he made an address before the annual encampment of the Southwestern Ohio Fish and Game Protective association here. He stated that the fish and game department at Columbus was reeking with partisan politics, and that it now functions as a part of a political machine rather than as a fish and game department. Ohio sportsmen want the department taken out of politics, according to Stuber.

AGAINST DIPHTHERIA

State Health Board Would Immunize Pre-School Children.

Columbus, June 2.—It was officially announced that the state department of health will conduct 65 one-day conferences this summer, and more if necessary, for the immunization of pre-school children against diphtheria as a further development of its maternity and infancy program. The plan is now under way with demonstration centers in natal and prenatal work and the care of infants established in several communities. The new program, an educational development in preventative medicine, is intended for the safeguarding of children at the ages of greatest susceptibility to diphtheria—one to five years.

The first of the conferences will be held at London, Wednesday, June 4, with children of the proper age eligible from over Madison county. The second will be held at Circleville for Pickaway county, June 5, and the third at Newark, for Licking county, June 6. Thereafter there will be an average of four one-day conferences weekly until the close of summer. Conferences the second week will include communities in Delaware, Union and Champaign counties; the third, Darke, Mercer, Auglaize and Allen, and the fourth, Marion, Crawford, Wyandot and Hardin.

Airplane Afire in Midair.

Madrid, June 2.—It was officially announced that a Spanish airplane employed in the Moroccan campaign had fallen in flames at Melilla, burning to death two captains and one lieutenant.

FEDERAL JUDGE'S RULING

Senate Has Usurped Judicial Power, It Is Held.

Cincinnati, June 2.—Federal Judge A. M. J. Cochran granted the application of M. S. Daugherty, Washington, C. H., Ohio, banker, for a writ of habeas corpus releasing him from custody of an assistant sergeant-at-arms of the United States senate. Judge Cochran declared the senate has usurped judicial power and encroached on the prerogative of the house of representatives. In his opinion Judge Cochran holds that the senate is not engaged in investigating the attorney general's office, but is investigating the former attorney general. In so doing, he holds it is exercising the judicial function and that it has no power to do this.

This indicated, leaders say, that the measure will be defeated.

The senate reconsidered and passed without reservation the treaty with Great Britain for the preservation of the halibut fisheries of the North Pacific ocean, including the Bering sea. House action at this session on the $30,000,000 rivers and harbors appropriation bill is held improbable, with the refusal of the harbors and rivers committee to give the measure proper status on the calendar.

Democratic members of the senate foreign relations committee filed a minority report on the Pepper world court plan, premising its rejection. They say that in approving the Pepper plan, the Republican majority of the senate foreign relations committee took the most certain way for defeating any action by this congress to secure adherence by the United States to the world court. The report was signed by every Democratic member and was presented by Senator Swanson of Virginia, author of a proposal which, the minority asserted, comprised almost precisely the outlines given in the messages of Presidents Harding and Coolidge.

The issue presented by the presidential communications, the report said, "was to adhere under certain conditions and save reservations to the existing permanent court of international justice." "The departure of the committee from this issue," it continued, "has destroyed all prospects of favorable action at this time, unless President Coolidge and Secretary Hughes can induce a sufficient number of their associates in the senate to co-operate for the adoption of a resolution making effective their recommendations."

The recommendations of two presidents received no consideration from the committee, the minority asserted, until Senator Swanson had introduced his resolution to make them effective. If this resolution were adopted, the report declared, "the United States would have no legal connection whatever with the league of nations nor assume any of its obligations as clearly pointed out by Secretary Hughes." Far from being dependent upon the league, the Democrats said, the court actually would be as independent as the American judiciary.

Crabbe and McDonald Criticized by Justices of Peace.

Columbus, June 2.—At its meeting here the Association of Justices of the Peace of Ohio struck back at Attorney General Crabbe. B. F. McDonald, state prohibition director, also came in for no small degree of criticism, and Governor Donahay was lauded as the "friend of the justices of the peace, of honest law enforcement," and as the savior of justice courts in a number of counties of the state.

Attorney General Crabbe was characterized as a "scheming politician" by W. D. Downer of Steubenville. The prohibition law was attacked by several of the justices. J. W. Richards of Uniontown, Stark county, secretary of the association, referred to the present prohibition law as "the damnable prohibition law," and declared Crabbe himself must assume the responsibility for the recently uncovered justice of the peace court scandal, because of the county-wide jurisdiction provision of the Crabbe act.

DOINGS IN OHIO

Charge Made by Boys.

Columbus, June 2.—Three boys, who ran away from the Franklin county children's home because of alleged severe whippings they received there, were found huddled together in a corner of a school building by police. When the boys were taken to the juvenile detention home it was discovered that their backs were covered with black and blue welts, the police asserted. They gave their names as Melvin Homes, 8; John Mines, 12, and Willard Sheets, 9.

Business Women Elect.

Cincinnati, June 2.—Mrs. Zella A. McBurney of Warren was elected president of the Ohio Federation of Business and Professional Clubs at the convention of the organization here. A boom for Judge Florence E. Allen of the Ohio supreme court as candidate for the United States senate was started by Miss Emily Kneubuhl of this city.

Boy Killed by Companion.

Middletown, O., June 2.—Bert Carpenter, 16, died at his home, east of Lebanon, as the result of a bullet wound. Willard Jones, 16, another farmer boy, died the shooting, the ball from a .22 caliber revolver piercing his chest's heart. They were playing "wild west." Coroner Harry Dilatash pronouncing the shooting accidental.

Gypsies Fined.

Washington C. H., O., June 2.—A band of 40 gypsies, traveling in automobiles, swindled a local man out of $40. Mayor Allen ordered the nomads rounded up and after fining eight of them a total of $253 for disorderly conduct, gave them a safe escort out of the county.

Theater Robbed.

Cleveland, June 2.—Several thousand dollars in cash were taken by safe robbers from the strong box in the office of Loew's Liberty theater in the east end section, it was discovered when the janitor opened the place.

Country's Oldest Fire Chief.

Cleveland, June 2.—Chief George Wallace, 76, served his fifty-first year in the fire department, the last 23 of which he has been at its head. He claims to be the oldest active fire chief in the country.

Boy Drowned.

Youngstown, O., June 2.—Robert H. Mitchell, 9, son of the physical director at Lincoln junior high school here, was drowned in Lake Milton when he fell from the bank while fishing.

Scaffolding Collapsed.

Cleveland, June 2.—Edward Houston, carpenter, was instantly killed here when a scaffolding collapsed and threw him 30 feet to the ground, breaking his back.

Horses Cremated.

East Liverpool, O., June 2.—Fire destroyed the stables of the Milliron Transfer company, with a loss of $50,000. Twenty-four head of horses were burned.

French Cabinet Resigns.

Paris, June 2.—The French cabinet resigned yesterday. Premier Poincaré tendered his own and the resignations of his colleagues to President Millerand. The resignation of the latter in the near future is also expected. He was sharply attacked in the new chamber of deputies. It is believed M. Herriot will be elevated to the premiership.

TO PRESENT CASE TO GRAND JURY

Prosecutor Says Confessions Will Hang Leopold and Loeb

POLICE HAVE OTHER EVIDENCE

Each of the Prisoners, Both Sons of Chicago Millionaires, Charges the Other With Delivering the Blow That Killed the Kidnaped Lad, Robert Franks—Leopold Says Killing Was Accidental.

Chicago, June 2.—State's Attorney Crowe declared the confessions of Nathan E. Leopold, Jr., and Richard Loeb will "hang them."

Crow said he would present the confessions and other evidence to the grand jury without delay.

Leopold and Loeb, the prisoners, are sons of Chicago millionaires and university students. According to the state's attorney. The pair admitted they kidnaped and slew Robert Franks, 13, son of Jacob Franks, a millionaire paper box manufacturer here. They said they strangled the boy in their automobile, concealed the body in a swamp and demanded $10,000 ransom from the parents. Concerning the motive, Crowe said the young men wanted "excitement and $10,000."

Young Franks disappeared on the afternoon of May 21, as he was going from a private school to his home a few blocks distant. That night a man posing as "George Johnson" telephoned the boy's mother that her son was held for ransom and the next day the father received a letter demanding $10,000 for the boy's release and instructing that further orders would follow. In the afternoon came a telephone call to Franks from Johnson instructing him to take the money, which he had ready, to a drug store, the address of which Franks did not understand. A few minutes afterward the nude body of a boy, found stuffed into a culvert in a South Side swamp, was identified as his son.

The state's attorney declared that if the confessions are repudiated, evidence the police have uncovered would convict them. Each of the youths maintains that it was the other, not he, who struck the blow with the chisel that killed their victim. Leopold, who is a law student, maintains his composure. He claims they were "experimenting" and that the killing was "accidental."

TWENTY-THREE DIE WHEN SCHOOL BURNS

Private Institution Near Los Angeles Is Destroyed.

Los Angeles, June 2.—Fire which destroyed the Hope school for subnormal girls at Playa del Ray claimed a toll of 23 lives. In addition a score or more persons were injured, several seriously.

The girls were housed in a three-story wooden building, fire breaking out on the third floor. Two adults are in the list of dead, including Mrs. Drew Thomas, head matron.

The building was a mass of flames when the firemen arrived. The school was a private institution. It is said that when the fire broke out all doors and windows were found to be locked. Rescuers who attempted to gain entrance were forced to break a number of windows before they were able to reach the trapped children. When the children were reached they were huddled together and apparently fighting among themselves, rescuers said.

Playa del Ray, a beach resort, is 18 miles from Los Angeles.

Partisanship Alleged.

Cincinnati, June 2.—J. W. Stuber of Columbus, editor-in-chief of the Ohio Sportsman, flayed the state administration of the fish and game department when he made an address before the annual encampment of the Southwestern Ohio Fish and Game Protective association here. He stated that the fish and game department at Columbus was reeking with partisanship politics, and that it now functions as a part of a political machine rather than as a fish and game department. Ohio sportsmen want the department taken out of politics, according to Stuber.

AGAINST DIPHTHERIA

State Health Board Would Immunize Pre-School Children.

Columbus, June 2.—It was officially announced that the state department of health will conduct 65 one-day conferences this summer, and more if necessary, for the immunization of pre-school children against diphtheria as a further development of its maternity and infancy program. The plan is now under way with demonstration centers in natal and pre-natal work and the care of infants established in several communities. The new program, an educational development in preventative medicine, is intended for the safeguarding of children at the ages of greatest susceptibility to diphtheria—one to five years.

The first of the conferences will be held at London, Wednesday, June 4, with children of the proper age eligible from over Madison county. The second will be held at Circleville for Pickaway county, June 5, and the third at Newark, for Licking county, June 6. Thereafter there will be an average of four one-day conferences weekly until the close of summer. Conferences the second week will include communities in Delaware, Union and Champaign counties; the third, Darke, Mercer, Auglaize and Allen, and the fourth, Marion, Crawford, Wyandot and Hardin.

Airplane Afire In Midair.

Madrid, June 2.—It was officially announced that a Spanish airplane employed in the Moroccan campaign had fallen in flames at Melilla, burning to death two captains and one lieutenant.

FEDERAL JUDGE'S RULING

Senate Has Usurped Judicial Power, It Is Held.

Cincinnati, June 2.—Federal Judge A. M. J. Cochran granted the application of M. S. Daugherty, Washington, C. H., Ohio, banker, for a writ of habeas corpus releasing him from custody of an assistant sergeant-at-arm of the United States senate. Judge Cochran declared the senate has usurped judicial power and encroached on the prerogative of the house of representatives. In his opinion Judge Cochran holds that the senate is not engaged in investigating the attorney general's office, but is investigating the former attorney general. In so doing, he holds it is exercising the judicial function and that it has no power to do this.

VICTORIA MEDAL GIVEN U. S. MAN

J. F. Hayford Founded the Theory of Isostasy.

Evanston, Ill.—The Victoria medal of the Royal Geographical society of Great Britain has been awarded to Director John F. Hayford, head of the college of engineering of Northwestern university, and will be presented on May 26, for notable achievement in establishing the theory of isostasy.
Only two other Americans in recent years have been awarded this honor—Commodore Peary, discoverer of the North Pole, in 1910, and Alexander Hamilton Rice in 1914.

Force Under Earth's Surface.
The establishment of the theory of isostasy by Director Hayford and the recognition of his work by British scientists is expected to direct attention anew to the research efforts of Dr.
Hayford and associates over a period of 13 years to demonstrate the existence of a force beneath the surface of the earth which tends to equalize pressure at all points.

"The establishment of isostasy," said Director Hayford recently, "adds much to the strength of the evidence that the earth is solid throughout, from surface to center, and that it is not a floating crust on a liquid interior.
It also throws light upon the nature of the movements which have folded and crumpled much of the rock formations of the earth. For instance we have demonstrated that the distance between Harrisburg and Pittsburgh, Pa., is nearly ten miles shorter than it was before the folding and crumpling of rocks took place. Isostasy also explains, in a measure, the nature of earthquakes. On the Japanese coast and the western coast of America, for example, we find mountainous country adjacent to great ocean depths. Isos-tasy demonstrates that earthquakes under such conditions are not due to the supposititious action of subterranean gases and lava upon the earth's crust but to the deeper movement of the earth's bulk, due to tremendous pressure. It demonstrates that while gases and fire exist, they occupy pockets of the outer crust of the earth and that the earth is not a flaming mass at its center."

Suggested by Englishman.

Dr. Hayford said that the idea of isostasy was first suggested by an Englishman and for nearly half a century has been under vigorous discussion by leading geologists and other scientists.
If the theory is true, he argues, there is a condition of hydrostatic pressure in the rocks of the earth everywhere at about 70 miles below sea level, just as there is in the quiet water near the bottom of a lake. According to his demonstration of the theory, the rocks under the continents are lighter than the rocky formation under the oceans.
They are lighter, he said, under the high parts of America, for example, than under the low parts. Hence, the relation of the elevation above sea-level on the one hand and the density of the rocks of that section of the globe down to a depth of about 70 miles, on the other hand, is such that a column under any square mile of the earth, down 70 miles below sea-level, weighs nearly the same as any other such column.

"Such a column under Pike's peak," continued Dr. Hayford, "is found to be about 73 miles long; under the New Jersey coast, 70 miles, but under the deep Atlantic there are 65 miles of rock plus five miles of water. But, according to isostasy these three columns weigh practically the same which means that the rock under Pike's peak, for 70 miles down, is about 4 per cent lighter than the rocks under the New Jersey coast, and under the deep Atlantic, the rocks are about 4 per cent heavier. Someone who heard me say this recently remarked that by this theory the United States floats—and that expresses the idea in a lighter vein."

Experimented for Nine Years.

Dr. Hayford began active work to demonstrate isostasy as early as 1909 when he was given charge of the geodetic work of the United States coast and geodetic survey. For nine years he and associates investigated and experimented. They had at their disposal, he said, a vast collection of facts and "the best group of expert computers in the world." The coast survey experts under Dr. Hayford experimented at hundreds of points in the United States and scientifically determined the direction in which a plumb-line would hang if the earth's surface were all level. The actual direction of the plumb-line at each point also was determined. A comparison of the two directions gave in each case a test of the theory of isostasy.

"The combined evidence from nearly 800 such comparisons," said Director Hayford, "finally furnished positive proof of isostasy. But this was only a part of the proof obtained by the coast survey. The pull of the earth upon a pendulum—the intensity of gravity—has been measured at over 200 places in the United States—which furnished second proof of isostasy."

Director Hayford, in closing, remarked that this proof of isostasy, actually obtained for a few thousand dollars, gave the coast and geodetic survey an increase in accuracy of its knowledge of the size and shape of the earth which would have cost millions if obtained by former standard methods. He declared that the collection of this evidence is now in Washington under the supervision of Dr.
William Bowie, "who at present is the foremost exponent of isostasy in the United States."

Old Paris Attributed Big Floods to Its Sins

Paris' problem of how to fight the floods goes back to the remote days when, a fortified camp on a river island, the Lutetia of Caesar, it looked out on a panorama of marsh and forest.

It is not surprising to find that its early inhabitants attributed its flood disasters not to its geographical position but to its sins, and so in the inundations that wrought terrible havoc in the first half of the Eighth century the favorite remedy was a religious procession with the relics of St. Genevieve, a form of intercession against divine wrath which has been frequently practiced in the less enlightened Latin countries much nearer our own times. But once at least the floods were accepted as an intervention of Providence. In 886 the Seine rose when the Normans were besieging Paris, many of them were drowned and they had forthwith to raise the siege. "May the Seine water give you new wigs—and better combed," was the taunt which the monkish chronicler poet Abbo afterward addressed to the foiled warriors.

Much as Paris has suffered in modern floods—the damage sustained in these visitations has been trifling compared with that inflicted by the invading waters in 1296, when stone bridges were swept away, public buildings crumbled, and, as an old chronicler says, "men went in boats over the wall of the king's garden," over a great area the upper stories of the houses rose out of a vast lake.
The then larger Paris suffered even more in the flood of 1658. Bridges were carried away, streets became running streams, houses collapsed in ruin and many people were drowned.
The inhabitants seem to have taken these troubles with an amazing philosophy. The flood last mentioned came at the time of the carnival, which was held despite the disaster.

A contemporary diarist jocosely remarks that there would have been more masks had it not been for the conduct of Mme. la Seine. It was after the 1658 flood that the first attempts were made to bridle Mme. la Seine's caprices. Some canals were cut. But two and a half centuries later madam is still out of hand.—

Dr. Hayford said that the idea of isostasy was first suggested by an Englishman and for nearly half a century has been under vigorous discussion by leading geologists and other scientists. If the theory is true, he argues, there is a condition of hydrostatic pressure in the rocks of the earth everywhere at about 70 miles below sea level, just as there is in the quiet water near the bottom of a lake. According to his demonstration of the theory, the rocks under the continents are lighter than the rocky formation under the oceans. They are lighter, he said, under the high parts of America, for example, than under the low parts. Hence, the relation of the elevation above sea-level on the one hand and the density of the rocks of that section of the globe down to a depth of about 70 miles, on the other hand, is such that a column under any square mile of the earth, down 70 miles below sea-level, weighs nearly the same as any other such column.

"Such a column under Pike's peak," continued Dr. Hayford, "is found to be about 73 miles long; under the New Jersey coast, 70 miles, but under the deep Atlantic there are 65 miles of rock plus five miles of water. But, according to isostasy these three columns weigh practically the same which means that the rock under Pike's peak, for 70 miles down, is about 4 per cent lighter than the rocks under the New Jersey coast, and under the deep Atlantic, the rocks are about 4 per cent heavier. Someone who heard me say this recently remarked that by this theory the United States floats—and that expresses the idea in a lighter vein."

Experimented for Nine Years.

Dr. Hayford began active work to demonstrate isostasy as early as 1890 when he was given charge of the geodetic work of the United States coast and geodetic survey. For nine years he and associates investigated and experimented. They had at their disposal, he said, a vast collection of facts and "the best group of expert computers in the world." The coast survey experts under Dr. Hayford experimented at hundreds of points in the United States and scientifically determined the direction in which a plumb-line would hang if the earth's surface were all level. The actual direction of the plumb-line at each point also was determined. A comparison of the two directions gave in each case a test of the theory of isostasy.

"The combined evidence from nearly 800 such comparisons," said Director Hayford, "finally furnished positive proof of isostasy. But this was only a part of the proof obtained by the coast survey. The pull of the earth upon a pendulum—the intensity of gravity—has been measured at over 200 places in the United States—which furnished second proof of isostasy."

Director Hayford, in closing, remarked that this proof of isostasy, actually obtained for a few thousand dollars, gave the coast and geodetic survey an increase in accuracy of its knowledge of the size and shape of the earth which would have cost millions if obtained by former standard methods. He declared that the collection of this evidence is now in Washington under the supervision of Dr. William Bowie, "who at present is the foremost exponent of isostasy in the United States."

Old Paris Attributed Big Floods to Its Sins

Paris' problem of how to fight the floods goes back to the remote days when, a fortified camp on a river island, the Lutetia of Caesar, it looked out on a panorama of marsh and forest.

It is not surprising to find that its early inhabitants attributed its flood disasters not to its geographical position but to its sins, and so in the inundations that wrought terrible havoc in the first half of the Eighth century the favorite remedy was a religious procession with the relics of St. Genevieve, a form of intercession against divine wrath which has been frequently practiced in the less enlightened Latin countries much nearer our own times. But once at least the floods were accepted as an intervention of Providence. In 886 the Seine rose when the Normans were besieging Paris, many of them were drowned and they had forthwith to raise the siege. "May the Seine water give you new wigs—and better combed," was the taunt which the monkish chronicler poet Abbo afterward addressed to the foiled warriors.

Much as Paris has suffered in modern floods—the damage sustained in these visitations has been trifling compared with that inflicted by the invading waters in 1296, when stone bridges were swept away, public buildings crumbled, and, as an old chronicler says, "men went in boats over the wall of the king's garden," over a great area the upper stories of the houses rose out of a vast lake. The then larger Paris suffered even more in the flood of 1658. Bridges were carried away, streets became running streams, houses collapsed in ruin and many people were drowned. The inhabitants seem to have taken these troubles with an amazing philosophy. The flood last mentioned came at the time of the carnival, which was held despite the disaster. A contemporary diarist jocosely remarks that there would have been more masks had it not been for the conduct of Mme. la Seine. It was after the 1658 flood that the first attempts were made to bridle Mme. la Seine's caprices. Some canals were cut. But two and a half centuries later madam is still out of hand.—Manchester Guardian.

Porch Apron Suitable for General House Wear

Kinds of Bobs That Are Not Considered Stylish

There is that old-fashioned looking kind of bob, which, for all its newness, is familiar. You survey it curiously, particularly if it appears at dinner on a head which at breakfast wore slick black coils. The bangs—the close, flat contour, just waving softly above ears which were modestly covered not so long ago—that boyish flatness at the back—"where," you ask yourself, "have I seen that head before?" Well, if you must know, in the family album of 1880 or thereabouts, tight basques, long sleeves, tie-backs and all. Only then women mostly wore French twists, with the hair tucked under. If you look at a picture of Irene Bordoni in "Little Miss Bluebeard," you'll see the type. This is very quaint, and in some cases very charming, and it's the kind of bob which has made a creature of distinction out of many an ugly duckling. For the quick, sparkling boyish type this shingle bob is lovely indeed, and just now it's very good. Even for mature women it has proved successful, but it takes a great deal of grooming, and your head must be very well shaped for the reason that there is nothing in this fashion to disguise it. There is no means of placing a corrective accent here or there, nor developing a curve where Nature has made a plane. If your head is beautifully sculptured the shingle will bring it out to perfection. In any case, it is very young—and that is not to be despised.

For elongated ovals—those faces which Nature has made long and mournful, or thin and gypsy-like—the right bob is a wonderful thing. And the right bob is likely to be the fluffy, even flapperish kind, with width across the ears and curls to soften any sharpness of contour and severity of chin. And as for a high forehead—well, if you have one, dispose your long hair as you like, but cover it when you bob, for nobody, nobody, should look "high-brow." It isn't done. It may be that you are one of those women whose hair grows beautifully around her face in enchanting curves and scallops and such interesting natural devices as widow's peaks. It may be that your curls are of the sort that take heart in a sea breeze, and positively flourish in a rain, while other less fortunate locks have immediately lapsed into shoostrings. In either case you are to be congratulated—you probably couldn't make it look ugly by any fashion of bob.

Meanwhile selection is advisable for most of us, and curling tongs, brilliantine and hair wavers will continue to be in demand.—The Designer.

An Artificial Silk That Resembles Baronet Satin

The Fashion Art league, in its annual fashion show recently at Chicago, sponsored fulgurante, an artificial silk that resembles the baronet satin of seasons past. An informal frock in white fulgurante shows a new treatment in overlapping effects. The embroidery is white beads and crystals and gold threads. The skirt is ten inches from the floor. A scarf is only a scarf until one meditates on possibilities of a long, trailing affair that is literally a shawl in orchid chiffon crepe, the same fabric of the gown. The trim is a border of the fabric, box plaited and fringed. The draping of the long scarf makes or mars the costume. Violets hold the slight drape at the side—and violets, dear ladies, are the flowers of fashion. Beads take new and various designs; one of the most unusual is a stole of white satin beaded in shaded green crystals, which forms a round yoke in front, and a fastened and a flying panel in the back. The underslip is similarly beaded on a gown of white flat crepe.

"Diamond Lake"

Nature, working deep beneath the surface of the earth under great pressure, has made our familiar transparent diamonds from carbon. By another method of nature, dazzling imitation diamonds have been formed in limestone regions. Underground waters trickling through the earth in limestone areas dissolve out lime and later deposit it as crystals of calcium carbonate and calcium sulphate in subterranean caverns. The crystals of calcium carbonate are the more brilliant and, if free from contamination by other minerals in solution, are transparent or pure white. Such crystals, when illuminated by artificial light, will dazzle the eye as other diamonds do in the sunlight. The most beautiful example of these diamonds of lime is found in the "diamond lake" in the Endless caverns at New Market, Va. The islands and shores of this miniature lake, 290 feet below the surface, gleam with the sparkle of millions of diamonds of lime when a white light is thrown on them.

I suppose that will be nine-ten-elevens, won't it?"

Ivory Grows on Trees

In Colombia, Peru, Ecuador and Brazil, Ivory grows on trees. Chess men, ornaments, buttons, drawer knobs and other articles are made from this vegetable Ivory which, dried and cut, looks like the real Ivory obtained from elephant tusks. It is gathered in the form of hard, white, fine-grained, oval nuts about the size of a small potato, which drop from the wild tagua or ivory-nut palm. The average young female tree produces from six to nine of these nuts a season.

HERRICK REFRIGERATORS

The Big Difference In Refrigerators

The main object of any refrigerator, of course, is the preservation of foods. The refrigerator that will keep foods in perfect condition longest is naturally the refrigerator you want—provided it doesn't increase your ice bills.

The Herrick answers those requirements with facts—not claims. And it does even more. It actually decreases your ice bills while giving you more effective food preservation.

And why? Simply because the Herrick is far more than an ice box—far more than a cold storage place. It is built on the scientifically demonstrated principle that more than merely cold air is necessary to keep foods in good condition for any great length of time.

Perhaps the biggest essentials to scientifically correct refrigeration are—

- No. 1. Circulation of cold dry air.
- No. 2. Effective Insulation.
- No. 3. Air-tight construction.

That the Herrick has these necessary essentials is a demonstrated fact.

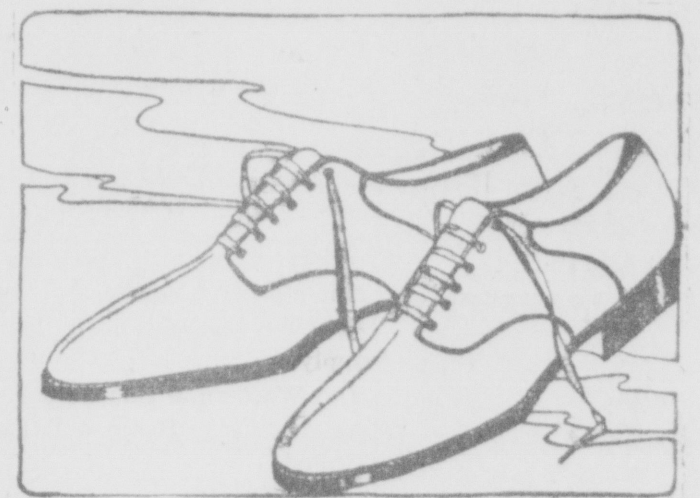

Many proofs of the truth are visible even to the least informed purchaser. Others are hidden within the walls of the refrigerator, but nevertheless there, performing their functions so important to good health and economy.

GORDON STUMP

Burial at Reber Hill Cemetery—Family
Sorely Stricken.

Funeral services for Gordon Stump Wednesday of last week in a turbine who was killed at Washington C. H. explosion, was held in the Bloomingburg Methodist Episcopal church, Thursday afternoon at one o'clock with Rev. Arthur P. Cherrington, superintendent of the Chillicothe district officiating. The pallbearers were the following Methodist ministers of the same district: Rev. Pfaltzgraf, Jeffersonville; Rev. Creamer, Staunton; Rev. Elsea, New Holland; Rev. Moffet, Good Hope; Rev. Alexander, Washington C. H. Burial was made in the family lot in Reber Hill cemetery.

This is the fourth time in four years that the home of Rev. Stump has been visited by tragedy and death. In 1920 his wife passed away, in 1923, a daughter, ill for many months was called by death; that same year his little daughter was badly burned when her dress caught a fire and she lingered for weeks before she recovered.—Lancaster Eagle.

ILLICIT LOVE.

"Joseph Shabley and wife" were the names placed on the register at The Boggis last Saturday evening. In blissful ignorance that they were not man and wife they were assigned to a room. The denouement followed Sunday morning when a machine came from Portsmouth going to Columbus. In the car were two women and a man, one of the women being the wife of Shabley. They recognized the Buick sport car of Shabley as they passed. They returned, went into the hotel and found that her husband had registered as described above. Altho not living with her husband, her dander arose and she had her husband placed under arrest. In police court this morning, he and his paramour, Mabel Thomas, were fined $50 and costs each. They were released, leaving the machine as security for the fine and costs.

The Shabley woman went on her way to Columbus, but failed to return to file charges and Motorcycle Officer McCrady filed instead. The man in the case was a Syrian and the woman is an American. All hailed from Portsmouth.

AER-O-PLANE AUCTION
WAS A GREAT SUCCESS.

More Than 300 People Attended Sale at Brehmer Garage Saturday—Valuable
Premiums Paid for With Bonds Given
by Merchants—Next Auction Will be Held Saturday, June 28, at Henn Bros.
Meat Market—This Will be Conducted
With a Real Auctioneer—Get Your
Bonds Early for the Next Sale.

The second of the series of the Aer-O-Plane auctions, given by the business men of this city was held Saturday afternoon at the Ford garage.

Over three hundred people crowded into the show room at the garage interested in the sale of the articles that were offered as premiums. Dame Fortune had many surprises in store and the lucky holders of coupons were made glad when their names were called by the announcer, Robert L. Brehmer. He was ably assisted by Harry G. Stevenson and W. Ed. Wallace. Value in coupons made in bids on some of the articles produced a good deal of mirth and laughter. Some confusion resulted where more than one member in a family made bids. In cases of this kind the lower bid is cancelled, as that is one of the rules of the auction.

There were no bids on the tire gauge, toilet water and trouble light and these articles will again be put up at the next auction. Owing to the fact of the old number 15, left on the ten pounds of lard from the first auction and which was not changed to No. 31 until some bids were in, also caused some confusion. The old number on the lard was overlooked.

Grover Yates and Dame Fortune are married, seemingly. He drew the second sack of 25 pounds of sugar at the sale and was fortunate enough to be the highest bidder on a sack of sugar in the first sale held in April. J. W. Scharenberg drew the ladies' hose and Russ Imler is wearing new socks now as he secured a half dozen pairs at the sale. John Mast drew the farm gate at his bid of $500, but was not there to put in his claim and it went to the next bidder, Charles Buskirk, at his bid $175. Mrs. E. W. Van Winkle drew one of the sacks of sugar, but was not on hand to put in her claim, and it went to the next competitor, Andrew J. Warner, at his bid, $111.

Bids were made on the following articles and those marked with a star were the fortunate ones.

No. 1. Porcelain table *Cecil Reid $200; Mrs. R. Ahonson, $178.25; J. W. Chaffin, $173; Mrs. Ed. Kriesel, $102.

Premiums Paid for With Bonds Given
by Merchants—Next Auction Will be Held Saturday, June 28, at Henn Bros.
Meat Market—This Will be Conducted
With a Real Auctioneer—Get Your
Bonds Early for the Next Sale.

The second of the series of the Aer-O-Plane auctions, given by the business men of this city was held Saturday afternoon at the Ford garage.

Over three hundred people crowded into the show room at the garage interested in the sale of the articles that were offered as premiums. Dame Fortune had many surprises in store and the lucky holders of coupons were made glad when their names were called by the announcer, Robert L. Brehmer. He was ably assisted by Harry G. Stevenson and W. Ed. Wallace. Value in coupons made in bids on some of the articles produced a good deal of mirth and laughter. Some confusion resulted where more than one member in a family made bids. In cases of this kind the lower bid is cancelled, as that is one of the rules of the auction.

There were no bids on the tire gauge, toilet water and trouble light and these articles will again be put up at the next auction. Owing to the fact of the old number 15, left on the ten pounds of lard from the first auction and which was not changed to No. 31 until some bids were in, also caused some confusion. The old number on the lard was overlooked.

Grover Yates and Dame Fortune are married, seemingly. He drew the second sack of 25 pounds of sugar at the sale and was fortunate enough to be the highest bidder on a sack of sugar in the first sale held in April. J. W. CIRCLEVILLE AERIE

F. O. Eagles Honor Their Deceased Brethren With Appropriate Services.

In connection with the general observance of Memorial Day yesterday, appropriate services honoring the memory of departed Brothers, were held by Circleville Aerie, Fraternal Order of Eagles. This service was held in conformity with the rules of the order and was held on this day upon the invitation of the American Legion who invited all fraternal organizations to participate in the day's exercises.

The services, simple, but impressive, were held at the grave of George Weaver, the last Brother to be laid in his final resting place, in beautiful Forest cemetery.

The Rev. Robert Lee Baird, of Saint Philip's Episcopal Church, delivered the address of the occasion, paying a beautiful tribute to the memory of those who had gone before, and carrying an inspiring lesson in the promise of the life to come.

In referring to those who have passed beyond our sight and entered into life eternal the speaker said that "We believe, as Christians ought to believe, that they still live and we meet here to honor their memory and to thank God for their lives. Death cannot destroy, their devotion to the high ideals of this order, and character, is not covered by the earth, because Christianity has overcome earthly obstacles. The soul of each has returned to the God who gave it, and leaving to us (who are still on our pilgrimage) the perpetual memory of the life of high inspirations and noble achievements, carrying to us the priceless example of the life worth living. And so it is, to pay tribute to them, to honor them, and to thank God for their lives that we are here today."

The speaker dwelt upon the message conveyed back through these ceremonies from the departed Brothers, to continue the work they were compelled to lay down to grasp the torch and carry it forward, the true spirit of honoring their memory can be best exemplified by carrying out their highest ideals, and living up to the Christian faith and the lofty principles upon which the Fraternity is founded.

If we follow the teachings of this lesson, when we are ready to lay aside the burdens of this life, we may be able to say like St. Paul and like our departed Brothers, "I have fought a good fight, I have kept the faith, I have finished the work thou gavest me to do."

A short prayer by Mr. Baird closed the exercises.

The honor roll of Circleville Aerie is as follows:

James Pinnix, Daniel Brannon, William H. Schirer, Clarence Landenberger, Frank Ross, John L. Stevenson, John Enek, John W. Lowe, Charles Barthelmas, George Fohl, Thomas J. Ryan, Charles E. Brooks, William H. Lane, W. H. Albaugh, Elmer Dean, Robert Anderson, Rufus Sampson, Fred Buehler, C. F. Adams, Martin Swank, James Crayne, Seymour Layton, Charles Kline, J. F. English, Charles Thomas, G. R. Haswell, George Weaver.

Thirteen lay buried in Forest cemetery and three in St. Joseph's cemetery. A number are in other cemeteries in this vicinity and a few sleep their last sleep in beds far removed.

moved. A committee of the Aerie decorated the graves of those in the local cemeteries preceding the services and during the past few days the graves of all those near Circleville were visited by members of the order and covered with blossoms to show that their memory still endures.

BULLETIN DISCUSSES WATERMELON DISEASE

Farmers Have Been Slow to Adopt Control Measures.

Convenient Descriptive Key Given to Different Ailments of Plant Enabling Growers to Determine Cause of Trouble.

(Prepared by the United States Department of Agriculture.)

It is not surprising that farmers who produce watermelons for the market have been slow to adopt disease-control measures when frequently buyers pay just as high a price to growers of diseased melons as to those who produce healthy ones, says the United States Department of Agriculture in Farmers' Bulletin 1277, Diseases of Watermelons, just off the press. However, there is at this time a movement toward co-operation between railroads, distributors and growers that promises great improvement in this respect.

The bulletin discusses and gives control measures for such diseases as wilt, root-knot, gummy stem blight, ground-rot, anthracnose, stem-end rot, and minor diseases. It contains a convenient descriptive key to all these diseases, by means of which a grower may identify a disease in his field.

Briefly, the control measures for a few of the principal diseases are as follows:

Wilt is avoided by planting on land not previously used for watermelons, with precautions against the use of wilt infested stable manure and the spread of the disease by drainage water and live stock.

Root-knot can be prevented by the use of land free from infestation, or by rotating infested fields with root-knot immune crops.

Anthracnose is controlled by thorough spraying with bordeaux mixture, during the month preceding the maturity of the crop.

For stem-end rot the most important measure is the disinfection of the cut stems with a bluestone paste as the melons are loaded into cars.

Infection by the organisms that cause anthracnose, gummy stem blight, and ground-rot may be reduced by seed disinfection, provided the crop is planted on soil that is free from these diseases and in case barnyard manure containing the organisms is not used.

Copies of the bulletin may be had without cost by addressing the Department of Agriculture, Washington, D. C.

CO-OPERATIVE MILK PLANTS

Those Interested Will Find Many of Their Problems Solved in Recent Bulletin.

Those interested in establishing co-operative milk marketing plants will find many of their problems handled in a bulletin recently issued by the United States Department of Agriculture, Washington, D. C. Ask for the department bulletin entitled Producers' Co-operative Milk-Producing Plants.

The bulletin is based upon studies of experience in a large number of plants both large and small, but special emphasis is placed upon established plants in small cities where a satisfactory system of distribution does not exist.

Details are given on contracts, financing plant equipment, organization, sales methods, distribution costs and accounting systems.

CROP ROTATION IS FAVORED

Gardener Can Avoid Enormous Annual Loss From Attacks of Insects and Diseases.

There is a rule scratched down in the notebook of many good gardeners that reads something like this: "Never allow cabbage to follow cauliflower or cauliflower to follow cabbage." The reason for this rule is that both crops are attacked by the same kinds of diseases and insects, and by rotating them with other vegetables losses from these pests are often avoided.

Introduction "Jammed"

Gregory Mason writes in the American Mercury:

Every itinerant chautauqua spouter plays nightly for the deace of all committee chairmen and professional introducers. There are a few who know how to combine felicity with brevity, but they are as rare as Baptists who prefer Beethoven to Irving Berlin.

Painfully common are such bunglers as the chautauqua superintendent who introduced me in place of Col. John Temple Graves.

"Folks," he drawled, "we were to have heard the message tonight of Col. John Temple Graves, a man who, while a dwarf physically, is a giant intellectually. But there has been a last minute change and we are to have the pleasure of hearing Doctor Mason, a man who is a giant physically and . . . and . . . and . . ."

Some one tittered and I laughed. The superintendent waved at me, muttered something incoherent, and fled.

BULLETIN DISCUSSES WATERMELON DISEASEFarmers Have Been Slow to Adopt Control Measures.

Convenient Descriptive Key Given to Different Ailments of Plant Enabling Growers to Determine Cause of Trouble.

It is not surprising that farmers who produce watermelons for the market have been slow to adopt disease-control measures when frequently buyers pay just as high a price to growers of diseased melons as to those who produce healthy ones, says the United States Department of Agriculture in Farmers' Bulletin 1277. Diseases of Watermelons, just off the press. However, there is at this time a movement toward co-operation between railroads, distributors and growers that promises great improvement in this respect.

The bulletin discusses and gives control measures for such diseases as wilt, root-knot, gummy stem blight, ground-rot, anthracnose, stem-end rot, and minor diseases. It contains a convenient descriptive key to all these diseases, by means of which a grower may identify a disease in his field.

Briefly, the control measures for a few of the principal diseases are as follows:

Wilt is avoided by planting on land not previously used for watermelons, with precautions against the use of wilt infested stable manure and the spread of the disease by drainage water and live stock.

Root-knot can be prevented by the use of land free from infestation, or by rotating infested fields with root-knot immune crops.

Anthracnose is controlled by thorough spraying with bordeaux mixture, during the month preceding the maturity of the crop.

For stem-end rot the most important measure is the disinfection of the cut stems with a bluestone paste as the melons are loaded into cars.

Infection by the organisms that cause anthracnose, gummy stem blight, and ground-rot may be reduced by seed disinfection, provided the crop is planted on soil that is free from these diseases and in case barnyard manure containing the organisms is not used.

Copies of the bulletin may be had without cost by addressing the Department of Agriculture, Washington, D. C.

A commercial traveler visiting a Glasgow warehouse made a bet with the manager that he would pick out all the married men among the employees. Accordingly he stationed himself at the door as they returned from dinner, and mentioned all those whom he believed to be married. In almost every case he was right. "How do you do it?" asked the manager. "Oh, it's quite simple," said the traveler. "The married men wipe their feet on the mat; the single ones don't."

A miserable Imposter has been traveling over this country selling a recipe for taking off warts, when everybody knows that the only way to take off a wart is to rub it with a potato, which is afterward buried by a red-headed colored man in the northeast corner of a graveyard at midnight in the dark of the moon. MOTOR TRUCKS AND COACHES

While only 40 railroads in the United States were listed last year as operating motor rail coaches, a late compilation shows a total of 157, or an increase of about 300 per cent. These figures show that the use of the motor rail coach has proven its economy of operation.

More and more is the country coming to the city by motor vehicle. In Cincinnati during the past year about 97 per cent of the city milk supply was hauled by motor truck; in Atlanta, the figures show 90 per cent; Kansas City, Missouri, 75 per cent; Indianapolis, 60 per cent; Milwaukee 65 per cent and Baltimore 36 per cent. Other cities are fast falling into line and it will be only a short time before we can hope to see a motor truck service which will bring garden truck to the most distant point overnight.

Motor truck fleets are increasing in number very appreciably thruout the United States. The largest fleet in the country is that of the Western Electric company in New York City with 12,032 units. The next line has 4434, following down thru to the last of 15 with a total of 790. It is worthy of notice that the combined fleets of seven of the biggest operators are in New York City with a total of 23,887.

"No More Than 5 in 1 Bed"

The museum of the city of New York has an old-time tavern sign on which is printed the following: "Four pence a night for bed. Six pence with supper. No more than five to sleep in one bed. No boots to be worn in bed. Organ grinders to sleep in the wash-house. No dogs allowed upstairs. No beer allowed in the kitchen. No razor grinders or tinkers taken in."

World's Highest Phone Station on Monte Rosa

It appears that the highest telephone station in the world is that of the meteorological observatory on top of Monte Rosa, the Alps, at a height of 15,450 feet. Since the station is occupied only for a short period each year, the poles carrying the telephone wire are removed at the end of each season and re-erected when this is required.

It is interesting to know that the unusual conditions of weather which are met with in the mountain region do not hinder, but, on the other hand, really favor the operation of the telephone line. Short poles are used and at the center of each span the wire touches the snow, but as the snow is quite dry it is a good insulator and no leakage troubles are found.

Indeed, the final section of the line, from the Col du Lys to the peak, is simply laid across the snow without the use of any other support. Where the poles are used, to prevent any breakage of the wire, owing to movements of the glacier, the line is carried through rings on the poles and is not attached fast to the insulators. The line crosses two valleys, each about 3,300 feet wide, and naturally they must be crossed by a single span. But the depth of the ravines is so great that the sag of the wires is of no importance.—Washington Star.

FICKARDT'S ROUP AND CHOLERA DROPS

On May 7, 1924, I called on Elmer Doner, Ashville, R. F. D. No. 1, and he told me the following:—

I bought four hundred (400) chicks of a hatchery and while there I bought some tablets to prevent disease or cure them if they were sick. Very soon the chicks began to die, I tried the tablets that I had obtained at the hatchery. I then bought other tablets liquids and powders, all nationally advertised remedies, but none of them did any good and my chicks kept on dying until I had lost 250.

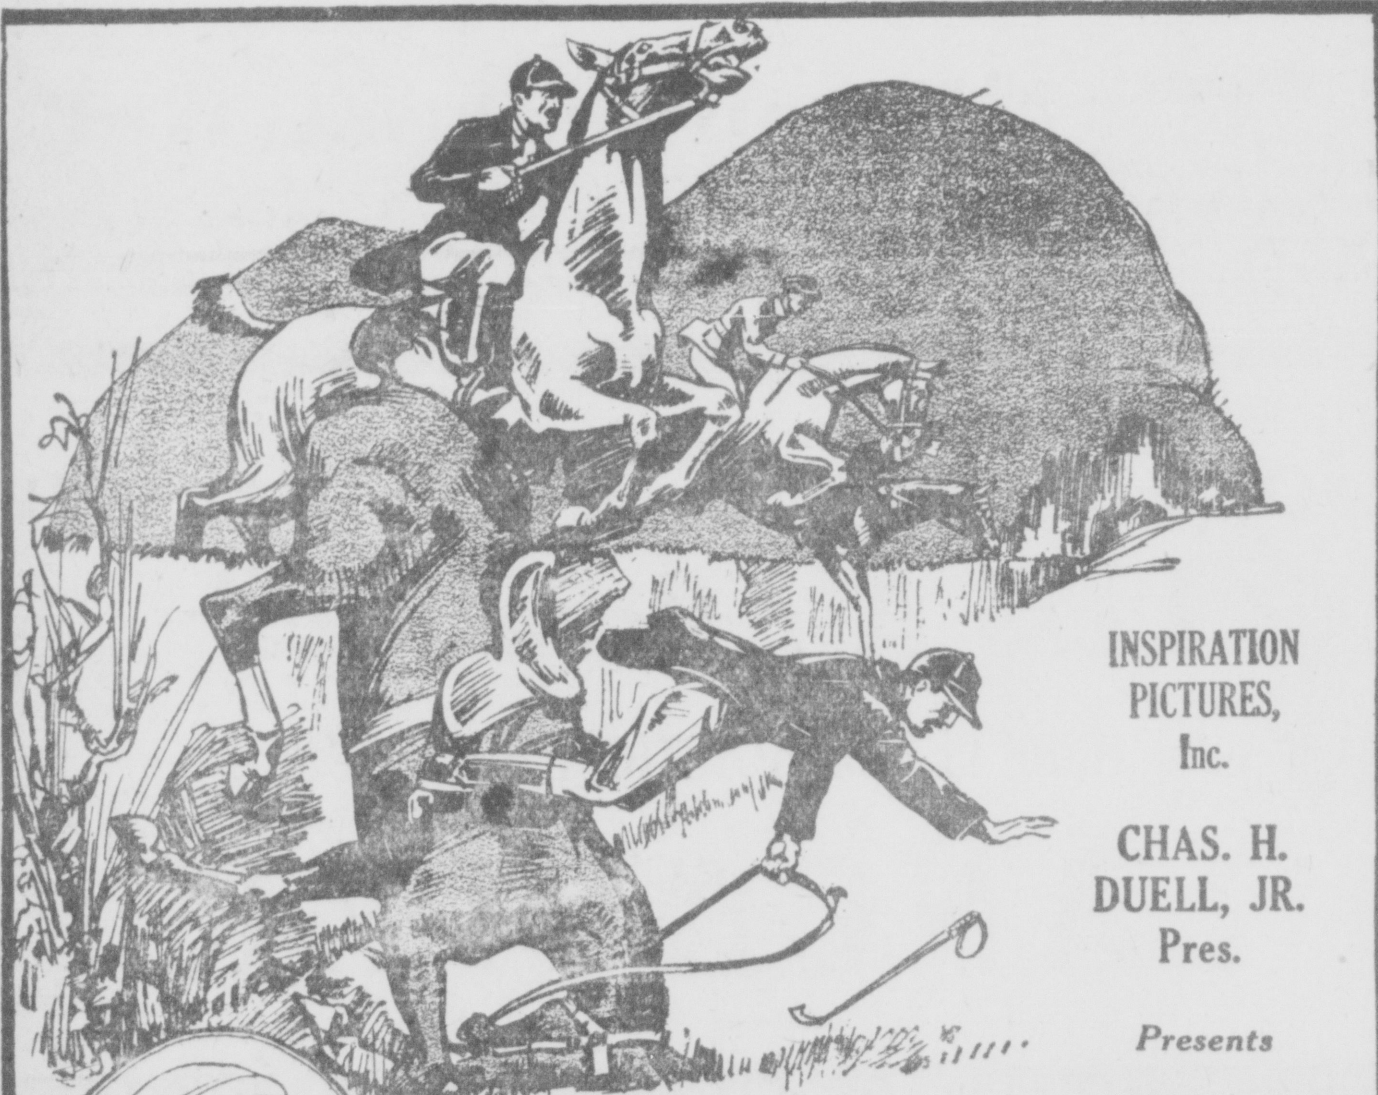

A friend of mine told me of Fickardt's Roup and Cholera drops, at that time I had ten sick chicks in a pen separated from the well stock and I really considered them as good as dead.

I began to use Fickardt's Roup and Cholera drops with all my chicks, both well and sick. Two of the sick ones died, the other eight recovered and I have not lost any others since I began to use Fickardt's Roup and Cholera drops over a month ago.

I would have probably thought that the disease had run its course if it had not been for the fact that these that were sick recovered, but seeing the sick ones get well has convinced me that Fickardt's Roup and Cholera drops cured them.

Picking Them

The Only Wart Recipe
A miserable imposter has been traveling over this country selling a recipe for taking off warts, when everybody knows that the only way to take off a wart is to rub it with a potato, which is afterward buried by a red-headed colored man in the northeast corner of a graveyard at midnight in the dark of the moon. As the potato decays the wart will disappear.—Bethany (Mo.) Clipper.

MOTOR TRUCKS AND COACHES
While only 40 railroads in the United States were listed last year as operating motor rail coaches, a late compilation shows a total of 157, or an increase of about 300 per cent. These figures show that the use of the motor rail coach has proven its economy of operation.

More and more is the country coming to the city by motor vehicle. In Cincinnati during the past year about 97 per cent of the city milk supply was hauled by motor truck; in Atlanta, the figures show 90 per cent; Kansas City, Missouri, 75 per cent; Indianapolis, 60 per cent; Milwaukee 65 per cent and Baltimore 36 per cent. Other cities are fast falling into line and it will be only a short time before we can hope to see a motor truck service which will bring garden truck to the most distant point overnight.

Motor truck fleets are increasing in number very appreciably thruout the United States. The largest fleet in the country is that of the Western Electric company in New York City with 12,032 units. The next line has 4434, following down thru to the last of 15 with a total of 790. It is worthy of notice that the combined fleets of seven of the biggest operators are in New York City with a total of 23,887.

"No More Than 5 in 1 Bed"
The museum of the city of New York has an old-time tavern sign on which is printed the following: "Four pence a night for bed. Six pence with supper. No more than five to sleep in one bed. No boots to be worn in bed. Organ grinders to sleep in the wash-house. No dogs allowed upstairs. No beer allowed in the kitchen. No razor grinders or tinkers taken in."

World's Highest Phone Station on Monte Rosa

It appears that the highest telephone station in the world is that of the meteorological observatory on top of Monte Rosa, the Alps, at a height of 15,450 feet. Since the station is occupied only for a short period each year, the poles carrying the telephone wire are removed at the end of each season and re-erected when this is required.

It is interesting to know that the unusual conditions of weather which are met with in the mountain region do not hinder, but, on the other hand, really favor the operation of the telephone line. Short poles are used and at the center of each span the wire touches the snow, but as the snow is quite dry it is a good insulator and no leakage troubles are found.

Indeed, the final section of the line, from the Col du Lys to the peak, is simply laid across the snow without the use of any other support. Where the poles are used, to prevent any breakage of the wire, owing to movements of the glacier, the line is carried through rings on the poles and is not attached fast to the insulators. The line crosses two valleys, each about 3,300 feet wide, and naturally they must be crossed by a single span. But the depth of the ravines is so great that the sag of the wires is of no importance.—Washington Star.

On May 7, 1924, I called on Elmer Doner, Ashville, R. F. D. No. 1, and he told me the following:—

I bought four hundred (400) chicks of a hatchery and while there I bought some tablets to prevent disease or cure them if they were sick. Very soon the chicks began to die, I tried the tablets that I had obtained at the hatchery. I then bought other tablets liquids and powders, all nationally advertised remedies, but none of them did any good and my chicks kept on dying until I had lost 250.

A friend of mine told me of Fickardt's Roup and Cholera drops, at that time I had ten sick chicks in a pen separated from the well stock and I really considered them as good as dead.

I began to use Fickardt's Roup and Cholera drops with all my chicks, both well and sick. Two of the sick ones died, the other eight recovered and I have not lost any others since I began to use Fickardt's Roup and Cholera drops over a month ago.

I would have probably thought that the disease had run its course if it had not been for the fact that these that were sick recovered, but seeing the sick ones get well has convinced me that Fickardt's Roup and Cholera drops cured them.

WOMAN ROBBED

Mrs. Evan Boggs Held Up by Bandit and Roll of $200 Taken.

"Throw up your hands," was the command given to Mrs. Evan Boggs, assistant manager of the Columbus Oil company's filling station at Mill and High streets as she emerged from the office about nine o'clock Friday evening after having just closed for the day.

Turning, she was confronted by a young man leveling a revolver at her. Without another word, the man reached into her sweater pocket and extracted a roll of bills, the day's receipts, amounting to about $200. The man, who was described as being about five feet three inches tall and weighing about 150 pounds, wore a black mask. After obtaining the money he turned and ran between the office and Mrs. Boggs' home and disappeared into the darkness.

Police were called and several officers were at the scene shortly after the hold-up had occurred, but no trace of the bandit was discovered. Several clues were given to the police, however, which may result in his apprehension.

One is that he was one of two men who was seen driving in the vicinity a short time before the robbery in a large green touring car with disc wheels and bearing a West Virginia license tag.

The bandit's knowledge of the pocket in which the money was placed leads the police to think that he had been concealed back of the building and had watched Mrs. Boggs check up and prepare to leave the office. A money drawer, containing $35 in change was not touched, according to Mrs. Boggs.—News Advertiser.

REDUCE DEATHS

Slogan is "No Child in Ohio Need Die of Diphtheria."

Protection from diphtheria depends upon the presence of antitoxin in the blood. The antitoxin which the body prepares itself is probably a permanent possession, while commercial antitoxin will remain for only about a month. What shall we do with those who are not protected? And nearly all preschool children belong to this class. If they have been exposed to diphtheria we must give them commercial antitoxin which will protect them immediately but will pass off in a month.

About thirteen years ago it was found that a substance known as toxin-antitoxin mixture would stimulate the body to produce its own antitoxin and to keep this protection for a number of years and probably permanently. With this protective material we can protect children from six or nine months to ten or twelve years and so repair the loophole that nature has left in her defenses. Three injections of this material are given usually in the left arm above the elbow. Each injection consists of fifteen drops and the injections are given a week apart. Thousands of these injections have been given in Ohio without a single bad result. Thousands of persons have been protected from diphtheria by this means.

You should know certain things about toxin-antitoxin mixture. When given to children not protected from diphtheria it will cause 85 per cent of them to be protected in from three weeks to six months. It is, therefore, of no value to persons who have been exposed to diphtheria and who need immediate protection which they can get from commercial antitoxin alone. It is not of value to children under nine months.

Only 85 per cent of susceptible children who are treated with toxin-antitoxin mixture will develop antitoxin. So those who are treated should be Schick tested in six months or a year and the 15 per cent who have failed to develop antitoxin will be found and treated. In order to prevent disappointment bear in mind that toxin-antitoxin does not give immediate protection from diphtheria and that the first three doses will not protect every child treated.

The tremendous reduction in the number of diphtheria deaths in New York City following the use of toxin-antitoxin mixture and the freedom from diphtheria in child-caring institutions in Ohio where this method has been shown that in the Schick test and toxin-antitoxin mixture we have weapons which will make our offensive against diphtheria completely successful. This is why we firmly believe in the truth of the slogan.

No child in Ohio Need Die of Diphtheria.

It is not of value to children under nine months.

Only 85 per cent of susceptible children who are treated with toxin-antitoxin mixture will develop antitoxin. So those who are treated should be Schick tested in six months or a year and the 15 per cent who have failed to develop antitoxin will be found and treated. In order to prevent disappointment bear in mind that toxin-antitoxin does not give immediate protection from diphtheria and that the first three doses will not protect every child treated.

The tremendous reduction in the number of diphtheria deaths in New York City following the use of toxin-antitoxin mixture and the freedom from diphtheria in child-caring institutions in Ohio where this method has been shown that in the Schick test and toxin-antitoxin mixture we have weapons which will make our offensive against diphtheria completely successful. This is why we firmly believe in the truth of the slogan.

No child in Ohio Need Die of Diphtheria.
